AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHABTIC Pills act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to care the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation. Indigestion, Dyspepsbi, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other aibaents, for all of which they are a safe, sare, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these l'ILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These Pills are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PHLIS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe enfferer from Headache, and your Pills are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasore to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers.

"I have used Aven's Pills in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fall to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable. J. T. HAYES." Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The Rev. Francis B. Harlowe, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various khads, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until same months ago I began taking Avere's Pills. They have entirely corrected the costive liabit, and bave vastly improved my general health."

AVER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularlties of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical

Oil "Mysteries."

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, writing from the o'l regions on the fabulous fortunes made and lost in the petrolemn speculation, says: The country has again gone mad with oil ou the brain. But the great bull movement and advancing prices last week received a set-back by the striking of a large well in new territory. 'The new | well is located in Forest County and is owned by the Anchor Oil Company. The first reports sent out from it reported it flowing at 1,000 barrels per dem. Since then, however, the best reports va ethe daily production of the well at 300 tarrels. It has been the cus our for severa' years back to board up the derricks of "wildcat" test wells in important toentions and place an armed guard a ound them to present trespassers from gaining access, in order to keep the result of the wells a secret from the public until the owners have had the to buy or sell adoining lands and prepare for the effect of the well on the market. Such a well, in ol reg on parlance, is termed a "my-tery," and the fre ment occurr nce of "moster es" has resulted in the employment by leading brokers and tage producing tirms of men thoroughly versed in all matters perta ming to the petrole m indu try, who are notly termed sconts, as it is their duty to learn the condition of such wells by stra eg, or force. This new well is no except on to the rule. As soon as it began towng heavil, the owners seear d the ser ices of fity Swedes, emplayed a peeling hemlock tan back in the vicinity, and set them to telling trees around the well, which is located in the midst of a vast forest. A plot eight hundred feet square, was marked out and the logs and brush ent were piled upon the lines o this square, forming a high palisade around the well, which was located in the center of the sq are, and then the Swades were put on guard within the inclosure to prevent any one gaining ndmittance. The sconts arrived in due time, and began skirm shing around outside the fort, trying to gain an entrance, but while daylight lasted they were unsuccessful. When the friendly shades of night had fallen though, three of the most daring ones s.lently scal d the wail and cautiously crept through the trees and bushes, ins.de the inclosure, to the tanks into which the well was flowing, where they remained several hours, listening to the flows, and measuring the contents of the tanks, after which they silently stole away again. While the three were in the tanks, two others drilled a hole in the pipe line laid to convey the of away from the well, and on which a pump was working, by which means they learned that no oil was passing through the pipe. In Satu day a ght they again gan_ed the tanks, twent our hours after the first measurement, and as no oil was pumped away, they knew the exact output of the well for that day. If detected at this work, they would have been roughly handled.

Perhaps the most notable of oil "mysteries" was the well on lot 616, ("herry Grove township, in Warren county, which was drilled to the sand last March. The well was a rank "wildeat" of great interest to the trade, and as it was generally unde stood it would be made a mystery sconts were detailed to watch it some time be ore it reached the oil-bearing level. None of them succeeded in getting any reliable in ormation from it, though, except one. "Si" I ughes, who had made his way through the picket line and lay under the derrick floor for forty-nine hours without food, in freezing weather, and in a position where was deluged with water every time the sand pump was used

The result of the well, which started n May with a pro-uction of 4,00 barrels a da , is well known, and Mr Imgbes received from various parties 550 ()) or the information he sn ered such hard hips to gain. He also was given an neest n the cal company, which purchased lands adjacent to the well, tr m which he realized a handsome sum. This company was the enchor Oil Crampany, which owns the new Forest County mystery. The sconts are men chosen on account of their thorough knowledge of the oil business, their petivity, their daring and their training to close observation of minute details. They are not only employed to watch 'myster.es," but also to compile statistics of the production of the oil fields and report the capacities of new wells which are not guarded, and among them are found most of the ail reporters of the oil region newspapers. The r pay is various. Some of them work for salaries ranging from $100 to $200 per month and expenses, while others work for rokers and receive onehalf the prosts made on all transactions made on the strength of their information. Some of these have made sung fortunes ductog the past two months. Taken as a sea they represent some of the best not bed in the recon.

Sorghum-Sugar.

The manufacture of sugar from sorghum has recently received fresh impetus, owing to the great number of experiments which have been made with a view of discovering some process by which good sugar could be guaranteed. Within the past year there have been at least four scientific gentlemen engaged in perfecting machinery and testing various ways of extracting the juice of the cane in such a manner as to remove all substances which have prevented Northern sorghum-growers from being successful in years past. Two processes have been patented, and it is now asserted that a first-class article of merchantable sugar can be made from sorghum. A practical illustration of the fact will be afforded undoubtedly during the present year, and if the objectionable matter can be separated from the juice while in course of manufacture, the growth of sorghum and the manufacture of sngar will eventually become a great industry.

Upland clay or sandy soil is better adapted to cane culture than loamy or bottom lands. On low lands the cane is more prolifie, but the uplands make up in excellence of quality what they lose in quantity. There is nothing difficult in growing cane. Anybody who can successfully grow Indian corn can grow sorghum cane, and with improved methods and machinery the profit on . cane growing will be much greater than on corn. The cost of raising an acre of corn is not far from eight dollars, and as a question of fact the fodder for ensitage purposes is more valuable than an equal quantity of corn-

Small farmers will raise cane and attem a to make their own sngar, but in this they will find no profit. It cannot be long before large central mills are built, where the growers can get their cane ground, and when these mills are once successfully started the advocates of sorghum culture look for great results. - Chicago Tribune.

-Professors Riley has given his collection of 150 000 bugs, including 30,560 species, to the national museum at Washington. Prof. Riley must have undertaken to have a little garden some where some time, to have been able to make such a collection as that. - Courier-Journal.

BY A "KITCHEN GUARD."

Those Kitchen Belles! Those Kitchen Belles! How many a romance their memory tells Of youth and love and that sweet hour,

Those joyous hours are passing away And many a heart that now is guy, Will sadly pine in bachelor cells When some one "rings those Kitchen Belles."

And so it will be when we are gone, The Fern Leaf boys will still hang on, And other bards shall walk these dells. And sing your praise, sweet Klichen Belles.

Miss Lucy Dobyns, daughter of Frank and Elizabeth Dobyns, died at her home in Mason county, September 26, 1882. She was born October 12, 1865. Death is ever a sad event, but one in the case of buoyam spirits and a seeming prospect of a long and happy life it is doubly so. Lucy possessed trults of disposition and character that won her many, many friends, who foully cherish her memory. The conmunity was shrouded in gloon when the fact of her departure was made known. Her has words were to her mother, "Come let us go home." We trust that the treed spirit was watted to the home of the blessed on high. A few months before her death the writer of these lines, had a long conversation with her on religious topics and the frankness and eandor there extilluted and the Interest manifested respecting her soul's eter-nal welfare, indicated that her last words were prophetic of a bilss to be realized beyond the A FRIEND.

Economy on the Farm.

On the farm, and in all the various details of rural and domestic life, prudence and a just economy of time and means are incumbent in an eminent degree. The earth itself is composed of atoms, and the most gigantic fortunes consist of aggregated items, insignificant in themselves, individually considered, but majestic when contemplated in unity and as a whole. In the management of a farm, all needless expenditure should be systematically avoided, and the income made to exceed the outlay as far as possible. Pecuniary embarrassment should always be regarded as a contigency of evil boding, and if contended against with energy and persevering fortitude, it must soon be overcome. Debt, with but little hope of its removal, is a millstone dragging us down and crushing the life blood out of us. Be careful, therefore, in incurring any pechniary responsibility which does not present a clear deliverance with the advantages which a wise use of it ought always to insure.

A farmer who purchases a good farm and can pay down one third of the price, give a mortgage for the other twothirds, and possesses the heart and resolu ion to work it faithfully and well, enters upon the true path to success. He will labor with the encouraging knowledge that each day's exertions will lessen his indebtedness and bring him nearer to the goal when he shall be disenthralled and becomes a freeholder in its most cheering sense. But without due economy in every dapartment, in the dwelling as well as in the barns and in the fields, this gratifying achievement may not be reached until late in life, or may be indefinitely postponed. A prudent oversight, therefore, over all the operations of a farm, in order that every thing may be done that ought to be done and nothing be wasted, will exert a powerful influence in placing a family on the high road to an early independence. -Germantown Telegraph.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District. St. Albans, Vt., Jan., 20, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:-In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kenduli's Spavin Cure' has been very sutisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse because very lame and I turned bin out for a lew weeks when he because better but when I put blue on the round came better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bane spavins with 'Kendail's Spavin Cure,' one very barge one, don't know bow long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have lurge one off and two for the small one. I have used ten buttles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or telt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but it does for all what it has done for the with the very grant. me its wiil be very great.
Respectfully yours, Chas. E. Parker.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE IS SUFE In Its effects, mild in its action as It does not bilster, yet it Is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any hony growth or other chlargement, such as spavios, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all culargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumitism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as
